gardeniers,

Organic roots,
traditional cultivation.

At Gardeniers, we champion the authentic flavours of traditional vegetables grown for generations.

We grow traditional, seasonal varieties, selected for their quality and cultivated using sustainable, time-honoured methods.

Each harvest is carefully planned to ensure that our vegetables are picked at the optimum stage of ripeness, preserving their natural flavour and nutritional value.

Our sustainable growing practices produce wholesome vegetables while respecting the environment.

By choosing Gardeniers products, you bring to your table the best of a garden cultivated with respect for the land and the environment.

Every purchase supports an ecosocial project that provides stable employment for people with intellectual disabilities, borderline intellectual functioning and autism, all of whom are dedicated to carefully tending the fields where our vegetables are grown.

At Gardeniers, ATADES' Special Employment Centre, we grow organic vegetables and prepare them for you: fresh, washed, cut or preserved.

Always quality products, handled with care and dedication from the very beginning.

Gardeniers offers fresh, seasonal produce, harvested at just the right stage of ripeness and ready to serve.

Grown without chemicals using sustainable, environmentally responsible practices that respect nature, our produce delivers full flavour and freshness.

LADERAS DEL MONCAYO

We grow organic mushrooms in greenhouses and in the forest. People with intellectual disabilities, borderline intellectual functioning and autism carry out these processes with the care needed to bring flavour to other people's lives.

In our greenhouses, we use innovative techniques that replicate optimal forest conditions, with the control needed to maximise production without compromising quality.

The mushrooms grown in our forests flourish in harmony with nature, drawing on soil nutrients, ambient moisture and the ideal conditions offered by this mountainous area.

The Shiitake

Grown in Tarazona (Aragón, Spain), shiitake is a mushroom native to Japan, renowned for its texture and smoky flavour. More highly prized than the common button mushroom, shiitake has a rich flavour that intensifies when dried and rehydrated in water. Mushrooms are powerful immune system stimulants. Shiitake is used in the treatment of certain illnesses, and the eritadenine it contains helps regulate cholesterol levels.
